About Klickstarters

Searchability launched Klickstarters in 2020, to help unite ambitious candidates looking for their first role in tech digital with companies across the USA. At Klickstarters we focus on three key candidate areas:

- School / College Leavers
- University Graduates
- Candidates passionate in tech digital looking to change careers

The current climate has made it increasingly difficult for school-leavers, University/College Graduates and candidates without proven tech industry experience take their first steps into the job market, despite the fact that many of these individuals have the right skills, enthusiasm and ambition to succeed in a role.

We wanted to do something to help unite these ambitious candidates with our clients' technical opportunities, so we have pulled together a number of incentives to help encourage clients to on board early tech talent through our Klickstarters service.

How We Can Help

We've helped hundreds of ambitious candidates take their first step into the world of tech digital over the years.
